The examples listed here are based on the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th ed. and other reliable sources. These are basic examples intended to provide a general idea of standard APA format. For more complex citations or for details on how to set up your paper according to APA style, consult the current Publication Manual (available at PCC Library: call number BF 76.7 .P83 2010) or other sources recommended by your instructor.

All citations in your list of References should be double-spaced and in the “hanging indent” format as shown. Pay close attention to the format for author/editor names (use initials only for first and middle names) title capitalization (capitalize only first words and proper nouns), date placement, etc. If you are used to using MLA citation style, be aware that APA is very different.

Book With Author(s):

Author(s) of Book. (year of publication). Complete title of book. Place of Publication: Publisher.

Book With Editor(s) Only:

Editor(s) of Book. (Ed. or Eds.). (year of publication). Complete title of book. Place of Publication: Publisher.

Single Chapter/Article From Edited Book:

Author(s) of Chapter/Article. (year of publication). Complete title of chapter/article. In Editor(s) of Book. (Ed. Or Eds.), Complete title of book (pp. page range of chapter/article). Place of Publication: Publisher.

NOTE: In this example, quotation marks are placed around the first part of the title because it contains a direct quote. Do not use quotation marks around an article title in your list of references otherwise.

See additional APA citation examples at: libguides.pittcc.edu/citationhelp (click on the links under APA).

Updated 10/2013